Description

Juana Valeria is a Colombian DJ and producer currently based in Germany. Her productions are divided into two branches: one oriented towards electronic indie and the other focused on club music. Her sound is characterized by textured synthesizers, broken percussion, dark atmospheres, as well as tender sounds and dynamic rhythms. She is part of RUTA, a collective and label operating in Germany.

As a DJ, she enjoys creating dynamic mixes that vary in speed and impact. She loves playing with intense beats that come and go, always seeking to bring something refreshing to the dance floor.

With a background in robotics research, she explores the interaction between technology and music, aiming to experiment with ways to connect with others through sound.
